Catherine Harrington

Ms. Catherine Harrington has a Master's degree in Chinese language and culture, a post-graduate diploma in second language teaching, and is working on a PhD in Applied Linguistics, focusing on issues around Taiwanese scholars publishing their research in SSCI journals. With 20 years' experience of English language teaching, specifically focused on writing, to a wide range of students from kindergartners through to university professors, in New Zealand, mainland China and Taiwan, Catherine has a sound understanding of the problems faced by non-native writers of English. She currently works with over 150 academics from Taiwan, Hong Kong, mainland China, Australia and New Zealand on preparing their manuscripts for publication in English-language journals. These scholars' research interests cover a wide range of topics including theoretical physics, science education, TESOL, computer science, marine ecology, mechanical engineering, sociology and sports management. Over the last decade, she has proofread at least 6,000 journal articles, conference papers, theses and dissertations, many of which have been accepted for publication in top-tier journals. Her bilingual guidebook and accompanying workbook, "English Research Writing: A Writing Companion for Chinese Speakers in the Humanities and Social Sciences / 中文母語者專用：實用學術英文寫作指南（人文社會科學領域）" was published by 高等教育出版社, Taiwan in 2018.
